TECHNOLOGY COMPANY MLINQS, based in Fairfax, Va., launched a Web-based product for the government market that automates the relocation process. The tool tracks relocation expenses and incorporates federal regulations for relocation, ensuring that employees are in compliance, said mLINQS. The company said the demand for such a product is great because civilian government agencies spend about $2 billion per year in relocation costs. Some 40,000 government employees relocate every year at an average cost of $50,000 per move, said mLINQS.
